HAPPY WIDR WEDNESDAY! And happy finals week, (which isn't so happy). BUT that means we are almost done with the semester. This is the last week for some of our current directors; Kyle, Chase, and Andy, and I am so sad to see them leave, but excited to see where they go. They are some amazing people. It's been a crazy and unpredictable year, but I'm so glad I had this team to help WIDR get through it. Transitions of new leaders into roles will be going on really soon, so I hope y'all show our new directors support as they learn the ropes :)) In regard to when we will return to the studio, that is still TBD. Over the summer we will be working on plans and seeing how that will work with regulations in place. Again, we are always welcoming of volunteers and whoever is interested in being involved!! Join our Discord and come hang out <33

PROGRAM

This will be my last newsletter as Program Director, but I want to thank everyone for all of their hard work and dedication to making this venture worthwhile. I'll still be sticking around as a community DJ but it will be certainly different. I have a long blog post coming up soon, but I am sure next year's team will leave you in good hands. DJ Odorico out (as PD, my show will still run on Thursdays you silly geeses)!

PROMOTION

Happy WIDR Wednesday y'all and congrats on making it to nearly the end of the semester! I am very sad to be saying goodbye to some of our current directors but I am also very excited for the new leaders who will be joining us at the end of the week! Sadly Britpop Week concluded last night but WOW wasn't it fun?! I had never listened to Britpop music before but after this week I am officially hooked! We did some fun things for Britpop Week on the blog as well (including a blog from yours truly) so be sure to check those out on the next page. In case you're wondering what I enjoyed the most from Britpop Week, here's a playlist of my personal favorites that I'll be adding more to as I listen to more :). Good luck with the rest of your finals everyone and have a great and relaxing weekend after this long semester!

Well, here it is. My very last WIDR newsletter. It's been fun writing half-sarcastically about everything, I'll never forget it (at least for a month or two). I really do actually love this job though, Josh Vesper will be taking over for me, a fellow MAT major, so I know y'all will be in good hands. The only thing I'd like to put out there as a goodbye (unless I find the time/stims to write a blog post about it) is that college is incredibly destructive on you, me, and EVERYONE, both mentally and physically. I'm writing this right now after taking three caffeine pills last night, three Adderall so far today, and have not been eating NEARLY enough for my body to be producing all this dopamine. But I know for a fact that there are people reading this that are experiencing the same things, so I just wanted to let y'all know that the strangers you're in class with on Zoom, though they might seem very well put together, it's not unlikely that they're feeling exactly like you do.
